BURIAL OF WINDOM.

Flags at Half-Mast and Public Buildings Draped in Mourning.

Washington, February 2.—The national capital was truly a city of mourning today. capital was truly a city of mourning today. The executive departments and their various, branches were closed all day, and congress did not assemble till 2 o'clock. Flags on the white house and all the other public buildings were displayed at half-mast, and so were those of the hotels and other business establishments throughout the city, and the large granite columns of the four fronts of the treasure descriptors. ury department were heavily draped in black.
These honors were paid to the memory of the late Secretary Windom, who was stricken down in the full tide of his usefulness on the 29th ultimo, and whose remains were committed to their last resting place today. The navy department and the department of justice were also draped in mourning in memory of other distinguished men who had been high in the councils of the nation.

The crape on the navy department was in honor of ex-Secretary Bancroft, and the black bunting on the department of justice in honor of ex-Attorney General Devens. They served, however, to add to the generally solemn and funeral aspect of this city today on the occasion of the obsequies of Secretary Windom. There was an air of genuine and universal mourning throughout the whole city and streets in the vicinity of the church where the last rites were performed, and along the route taken by the funeral procession were crowded the councils of the nation.

last rites were performed, and along the route taken by the funeral procession were crowded with men, women and children who stood in respectful silence, many of them with bared heads, as the mournful cortege passed.

The funeral was simple in character and without the least attempt at display or ostentation. The only semblance to military honors was the presence of sixteen members of the treasury branch of the national guard of the district. They acted as body bearers and marched behind the hearse on its journey to the cemetery. They wore the regulation uniform and were in command of Lieutemant Richard Moore, of the treasurer's office. There Richard Moore, of the treasurer's office. There ever was, however, a larger purely civic meral in the city of Washington and it rikingly evidenced the people's great love and esteem for the dead statesman.

THE PETITION GRANTED

For the British Government to File a Writ of Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, February 2 .- Chief Justice Fuller today announced that the supreme court had decided to grant the petition of counsel representing the British government for leave to file an application for a writ of proibition to prevent the district court of Alaska from proceeding to carry out its decree of forfeiture made in the case of the schooner Sayward, libeled for unlawfully taking seals within the waters of the Behring sea. The court asked counsel at what date the rule requiring the Alaska court to come here and show cause why the writ of prohibition should not issue, should be made returnable. The solicitor the writ of prohibition should not issue, should be made returnable. The solicitor general of the United States was anxious to have it made returnable at the earliest possible date, as was Mr. Calderon Carllise, junior counsel for the parties who brought the case here, and by mutual agreement the rule was made returnable on the second Monday in April

April.

This settles merely the preliminary question of the right to bring the case into court, and the matter now to be settled is whether or not the court will decide that the writ of prohibition should issue. There must now be an argument on the merits of the Behring sea controversy. In announcing the determination of the court the chief justice said that the argument had taken a much wider range than was necessary, and that the court was of the opinion that it had jurisdiction by way of prohibition, under section 688, revised statutes, to review the proceedings of the Alaska court. to review the proceedings of the Alaska court.

In the course of the debate, Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, complained of his lack of success in getting action upon the Hot Springs public building bill, and Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, referred to the strong existing suspicion that there was a building ring which controlled all appropriations for public buildings.

Mr. Spinola took advantage of the recognition to renew his appeal for the passage of the bill providing for the erection of a monument to the victims of British prison ships. The bill was passed—yeas, 138; nays, 55.

The senate bill was passed, on motion of Mr. Edmunds, of Virginia, for the erection of a public building at Ronoake, Va., with an amendment limiting the cost to $75,000.

On motion of Mr. McKinley a bill was passed amending section 180 revised statutes so as to read:

Alliance Leaders Talk of Putting Ingalls's

Successor Up for 1892. TOPEKA, Kas., February 2.—It is said the alliance leaders are already beginning to talk of Senator-elect Pfeffer as the alliance or third party candidate for president in 1892. Speaker Pro Tem. Marchatt remarked that such a thing would not be at all out of the question.

Said he:

"Kansas is going to be the leader of the alliance movement. The election of a United States senator and five congressmen before the party is a year old is a greater victory than was ever achieved by a new party in any state. It puts Kansas in the front in this great movement, and this state may be called upon to furnish the presidential candidate. If Kansas names the leader in 1892, it is probable that it would be the new United States senator."

THE WORKS SHUT DOWN

Because the Workmen Would Not Accept Reduction in Their Wages. POTTSTOWN, Pa., February 2.—This morning the entire iron works of the Ellis & Lessig Steel and Iron Company, in this city, shut down, throwing 700 men out of work, the pay roll for whom 700 men out of work, the pay roll for whom amounted to about $222,000 per month. The company began paying off at noon. This action was taken because of the contemplated reduction in the wages of the puddiers of from $4 to $3.50 per ton, to go into effect today. The men objected to this reduction, on the ground that it was 25 cents per ton lower than other iron companies of Pottstown were paying. During the past two weeks conferences have been held between a committee, representing the puddiers, and the officials of the company, but an agreement could not be reached. The men offered to accept $3.75, which the company refused to offer.

CLEVELAND AND HILL

BOTH WILL REMAIN CANDIDATES FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

WHAT A TAMMANY MAN HAS TO SAY

Tammany Does Not Forget Cleveland's Treatment of the Organization During His Term as President.

Washington, February 2.—[Special.]— There was much gossip here today over the fact that Hill and Cleveland sat at dinner together in New York on Saturday evening.

Some of the Cleveland men have been busy today announcing that Hill has consented for Cleveland to have the field all to himself in 1892 and that Tammany has fallen in line. A Tammany member, however, when hearing of the rumor, said:

"David B. Hill is as much of a candidate for the presidency today as he was one weak before he was elected senator to succeed Will-iam M. Evarts. He will continue to be in the field until the last ballot in the convention is New York will stand by him.

"What nonsense to talk about Tammany Hall trusting Grover Cleveland. The leaders of Tammany are men with memories. It has been less than six years since Cleveland was

"What did he do for us? Nothing. He simply did all he could to wreck our organization. In face of the fact that he was advised by ex-Secretary Whitney and other county democrats then to appoint to a federal office some active man in our organization, he refused to do it. He made the lame excuse that Tam many did not support him for the nomination. That was true, but he could not say that Tammany did not warmly support him at the polls. That was true, but Rather than confer an office on Tammany, Cleveland gave the best office in his gift, the collectorship, to an up-county man, Dan Magone. No, if Cleveland expects Tammany Hall to help him in his ambitions, he will be sadly left. We are not engaged in these days of our prosperity in assisting our very worst

"Then you don't think Cleveland can secure the New York delegation?"

"I am certain of that. If Cleveland is no nated he would lose New-York by 50,000 votes and he wouldn't come within 7,000 or 8,000 of arrying either Jersey or Connecticut." "Has the New York democracy a secon choice after Hill?" "Yes. Arthur P. Gorman, the ablest leader since the days of Tilden." The Silver Bill.

The western free coinage republican members of the house will combine with the democrats this week to have a vote in the house on the senate free coinage bill.

They say that if the bill is killed by a fair, honest vote, all right, but there shall be no honest vote, all right, but there shall be no juggling by the speaker.

Indeed, one of the western members today gave, Reed to understand that if he attempted to prevent the bill from reaching a vote, that he would lead a movement to prevent him getting the usual complimentary vote at the end of the session. Keed replied that he had stated some time ago he would take no hand in the fight whatever, and that if the house desired a vote he would not interfere by any unjust a vote he would not interfere by any unjust or partisan ruling. If free coinage can be brought to a vote in the house it will certainly pass. E. W. B.

WHAT COULD WE DO

In Case Great Britain Should Appear With Its Large Navy? WASHINGTON, February 2.—The senate met at 2 o'clock p. m. o'clock p. m.

Mr. Turpie introduced a joint resolution, which was referred to the committee on jediciary, proposing an amendment to the constitution for the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people of the several states. He said that both his colleague (Mr. Voorhees) and himself concurred in the proposition. The legislature of their state had, with singular unanimity, passed might, therefore, be regarded as embodying monly the official, but actual, expression of opinic of Indiana on that subject.

THE FORTIFICATION BILL.

An amendment reported by the committee to reduce the appropriation for guns and mortar bat-teries for the defense of the harbors of Boston, New York, San Francisco, Hampton Roads and Washington from $1,000,000 to $750,000, gave rise

Washington from $1,000,000 to $750,000, gave rise to a discussion, Mr. Dolph opposing the amendment and speaking at much length on the necessity of a gun factory on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Cockrell favored the amendment, and only regretted that the proposed reduction was not greater. He regarded a system of coast defenses (which would involve an outlay of $125,000,000) as utterly worthless and an absolute waste of money. Isolated as the United States was, it could resist the combined powers of the entire earth. Let the nations of Europe, he said, combine, bring their armies and fleets unitedly, and attempt to find a lodgment on our soil, and they will be driven back in confusion. We have no risk to run.

WEAKNESS OF OUR DEFENSES.

Mr. Hawley ridiculed the pretension that the United States can whip any other people on the face of the earth. He asked Mr. Cockrell how he United States can whip any other people on the face of the earth. He asked Mr. Cockrell how he would feel standing stark naked against a man with a magazine rifle, revolver and ibowie knife—would he rely on the moral strength of his cause and his superior physique? There was a population of 63,000,000 in the United States, capable of supplying the finest troops that the world had ever seen; but in case of an immediate and unexpected declaration of war, they would be what Wellington called, carrion for powder. What, he asked, would the British nation care for a square mile of such troops armed with rifles that would not shoot over 1,200 yards? He did not want to show the nakedness of his country; but it so happened that the whole world knew of it already. Every foreign nation had usually some bright young man traveling over the United States and reading all the reports of the secretary of war, secretary of the navy and ordnance bureau, and making reports, which were all filed and tabulated at home; and they knew as well as he did that the United States was absolutely helpless. The government could not negotiate today with advantage. That was the Bible truth. Great Britain, on the contrary, had a magnificent harbor at Halifax protected by noble batteries and a noble fleet—the best in the world. There she could collect gradually ships of war to be sent against American ports. She had another great naval station at Bermuda, and another on the northwestern coast, so close to the Onted States that vessels in that harbor could throw shot across the line.

Mr. Plumb—Along the Canadian border whistling can be heard on the other side.

HAWLEY IS EXCITED.

ling can be heard on the other side.

HAWLEY IS EXCITED.

Mr. Hawley—That is very funny, but it does not at all disturb what I have said. Wars do not come at all disturb what I have said. Wars do not come after years of agreement in advance. They explode without notice. But you say that Great Britain will not fight; that she cannot afford to go to war with us: that we are of the same blood, the same language; that all have the same Shakespeare, and all that sort of thing. But John Bu is very much like other people. He gets mad and makes an ass of himself, likeother people. He fights against robbery, and sometimes he fight four the sake of robbery. In twelve or eighten hours Great Britain could asssemble a fiset at Portland; in eighteen or twenty hours at Be ston, and in twenty-four hours, perhaps, at New York. What are you going to do when you find dritish war vessels in the harbor of New York: They could levy a tribute of $50,000,000 or $100.00.00 on the city of New York, and New York would-be between a committee, representing the puddlers, and the officials of the company, but an agreement could not be reached. The men offered to accept $3.75, which the company refused to offer.

The rolling mill of the coke Iron Company, at Reading, Pa., has closed down because the puddlers refused to accept a reduction of 25 cents in their wages.

What are you going to do when you find critish war vessels in the harbor of New York. They could levy a tribute of $50,000,000 or $100 .000,000 on the city of New York, and New York would be compelled to pay it. In the meantime, these "gallant sons of Heberty," by 100,000 or $50,000 are arming, but they would not be work a single last year's bird nest. TO BE OPENED BY THE SILVER POOL COMMITTEE.

MR. OWENBY'S CAREFUL ANSWERS,

He Says a Senator's Name Is on His Books, but that They Have Been Placed in WASHINGTON, February 2.- James A. Owenby was sworn. Owenby had retained Judge Johnson, of this city, as his attorney, and Chairman Dingley said there was no objection to Mr. Johnson being present.

In response to questions put to him by Mr. Payne, Mr. Owenby said that New York city ice. He had lived there was his legal residence. He had lived there six years but probably one-quarter or one-third of the time had been spent in Washington. He was in Washington a part in Washington. He was in Washington a part of each month of last year. His business last year was that of a broker. He handled all sorts of securities, and when he had an opportunity he dealt in silver.

His original business was mining. Witness had a desk room with Mr. Parsons, in the office of Wells, Fargo & Co., of New York, at 63 Broadway, New York. He did considerable business over the lines of Wells, Fargo & Co., and received his mail there. & Co., and received his mail there.

ASKING ABOUT HIS BOOK.S Witness was asked a number of questions, to find out if any of the names on his books were ose of senators or representatives. He evaded the questions, asked the definition of "purported," and finally did not know whether he had seen the names of any representatives in connection with silver transactions.

Before answering similar questions as to senators he consulted his lawyer, and then said that he had not, and volunteered the suggestion that the committee should have experts examine the books of Wells, Fargo &

During this testimony, witness at one time asked if his questioner meant the "books of any bank."
Mr. Payne wanted to know after a while what witness meant by his question and, finally learned that he referred to the books of J. M. Donald cashier of Hanover National bank, and of Hall, assistant cashier.

Owenby was asked if on any of these books there was the name of any senator or representative, and after pondering the question awhile, he replied that Donald held up some correspondence, and said it was that of a sen-

He next wanted to know whether by silver was meant bullion, certificates or warehouse receipts, and was informed that in every case silver was intended to cover the broadest ground.

Witness was examined closely with reference to his conversation with Donald, when the correspondence was exhibited. He said Donald picked up a letter while they were canvassing the silver situation, and said: "That man is in it. I know what he will do." Mr. Payne—He mentioned a name, did he? Owenby—You are very anxious to have me mention that, are you?

"Yes, I will state positively that it was a senator's name."

senator's name."

As an excuse for not being able to give the information with information with regard to other questions asked, Owenby said the information was in his books. Some of the books were in Chicag and others burned up.

The books were in a safe deposit company and not accessible to him. He did not want to get access to them and put them where he couldn't get them. He did that after Stevens's evilance before the committee. The books couldn't get them. He did that after Section 20 of the committee. The books referred to his private affairs and he would not state how they could be obtained unless compelled to do so. He was doing business in Chicago and interested with the firm of Field, Wicher & Kling. Their business was of a personal nature and it would be some to state probably be detrimental to the firm to state where their books, accounts and stocks were kept. Did not remember what was in the kept. Did not remember what was in the books, and did not want to.

After Mr. Payne could not find out anything about these books, Mr. Oates took up the examination and wanted to know if the witness did not|think he was in contempt putting away these books, knowing the committee wanted his information and wanted them. This question brought out the fact that out-side these books witness had in a trunk and other receptacles memoranda relating to silver speculations. He declared that the deputy sergeant-at-arms, after telling him he could stay over till Monday, suddenly told him he had orders to bring him to Washington at once, and that he had to come away in such a hurry that he forgot all about papers in the trunk. He declared that he in tended to bring these papers here. "The books in the safe deposit," said he, "refer to my personal and family affairs, outside of any contemptible silver business. I put them away the first of the month before any silver business. He declared several times that he intended bringing his trunk and papers here, and ended by offering to telegraph for them. At this point the examination was suspended till tomorrow.

Two Patients in Connecticut Die After Being Inoculated With Koch's Lymph.

New Haven, Conn., February 2 .- George M. Bradley, who was the first patient in this country to receive lymph inoculation, died today, and a son of Professor Blake, another lymph patient, who had been under treatment or nearly two months, is at the point of death. Bradley was a man but a little over 30 years of age, and was not in an advanced state of consumption when he began receiving treatment. Previously he was not confined to his house, but during his treatment he has been. During the past few weeks he has suffered intensely, as the treatment had a distressing effect upon his throat, making it difficult and extremely painful for him to take any nourishment. His phy sicians state that his death was undoubtedly hastened by the condition of his throat, as his strength disappeared very fast because of his inability to take food. He had been receiving injections since very early in December.

THE CRIMINAL DOCKET.

Bibb Superior Court Will Now Try Its

Hand. MACON, Ga., February 2.-[Special.]-The criminal docket was taken up in Bibb superior court this morning. The case of the state vs. Lee Lowthis morning. The case of the state vs. Lee Lowenthal for the murder of Herman Bohnefeld was called. Both sides announced ready. The defendant plead not guilty. Solicitor General Felton represents the state and Mesers. Dessau & Bartlett defend the accused.

Since the first hearing of the case, which resulted in a mistrial, Lowenthal has been out on bail. He appeared in the court room today neatly dressed and looking very well. He and his counsel are confindent of acquittal this time. His counsel argued that the killing was done in self-defense. The morning session was consumed in getting a jury. A very intelligent and respectable jury was selected.

Atlanta people will no doubt be interested in the result of the trial, as Bohnefeld was an Atlanta man, and was well known there. The killing occurred on a Sunday morning, at an early hour, in a gambling room on Fourth street. There was a large number of people in the room at the time. Bohnefeld was stabbed to death by Lowenthal. As soon as the fighting commenced all but one or two men ran out of the room. After Bohnefeld fell to the floor dead some one stole a handsome diamond ring off his finger. The ring nor the thief have ever been dead some one stole a handsome diamond ring his finger. in a Stable.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., February 2.—{Special.}—Yesterday morning at surrise the body of James Casep, a young man of twenty-two years of age, was found suspended from a rafter in his father's stable, on Alcova river, cold in death. He disappeared the night lefore. After the searching party had scoured the country for miles around, and dragged the millpond, it occurred to some one of the party to go to the stable. The father went and found that his son had committed suicide. He tied a rope to a rafter, then around his neck, and jumped into eternity. The coroner's inquest rendered a verdict of snicide. No cause is assigned, though some of the family had regarded him of weak mind for some time. He had once been in the asylum, but apparently had fully recovered.

If a meeting does not occur between Hon. William Clifton, Chatham's well-known legislator, and John Dillon, county receiver of taxes, inside of the next forty-eight hours, then all Savannah, and especially the friends of the central figures, will be

It may be on the field of honor, and after all the preliminaries prescribed by the code, or it may take place on the street here. MUTUAL DENUNCIATIONS.

One thing only is evident at present, and that is, that everything points to a speedy and, perhaps, fatal encounter between the two men. Captain Dillon has openly denounced Mr. Clifton as corrupt, and today the legislator published the county official to the world as a liar and a coward.

Those were fighting words in Savannah, and it is hard to see how there can be any retreat on either side. THE CULMINATION COMES.

The culmination did not come until this afternoon, when Mr. Clifton published, in The Evening Times, the entire correspondence be-tween Captain Dillon and himself, saying in As great publicity has been given to the tion an elective one was drawn up, and placed in the hands of Mr. Clifton, and for good reasons it was not introduced at the last session of the legislature. Colonel J. H. Estill, of The Morning News, is one of the CALLING DILLON TO ACCOUNT. In his first letter to Captain Dillon, written ast week, Mr. Clifton said: "On my return to the city last night, I was informed that you have charged that Colonel J. H. Estill paid me money to suppress the bill known as the commissioners' bill in the last legislature. Please give me an immediate reply as to whether you did make such a charge. In reply, Captain Dillon merely asked for the authority for this assertion, and he was then informed that J. J. McDonough, the present mayor, had stated that Captain Dillon said so in the presence of himself and several other gentlemen. In replying, Captain Dillon gave no direct answer to the question, but it was apparently evaded. Again the same question was put in a third letter. In his reply this time, Captain Dillon decided to consider it until Clifton assented himself that he had made the charge. Then came the denoue-

Captain John R. Dillon, City—Sir; Your notes of this day has just been handed me. I need not say that its tenor is unsatisfactory in that it seeks to avoid rather than to meet the inquiry which I have made to you. By the language which you have used in speaking of me to others I am constrained to the belief that you have sought to bring against me a most damaging charge. I have given you ample opportunity to disclaim such a purpose, and while you have sought to avoid its avowal, you have failed to make the disclaimer which, as an honorable man, you should have promptly expressed.

since it is impossible to secure from you an expression of your purpose in what you have said, it only remains for me to say that, if in any word spoken or intimation whispered, you have sought to convey the impression, or to intimate in any way, that my conduct in the last legislature as a representative from this county way. representative from this county, was governed in the remotest degree by improper motives, in respect to any proposed measure; that you are a dirty, cowardly liar and slanderer, too craven to affirm what you are, mean and contemptible enough to insinuate.

WILLIAM CLIFTON.

Captain Dillon then dropped the Captain Dillon then dropped the honorable hitherto prefixed to his correspondent's name. His reply was:

William Clifton, City: At 4:30 o'clock p. m. yesterday I found on my desk a sealed letter addressed to me, which, on opening, was signed with your name, containing coarse and scurrilons language, in which caution is taken to express its offensive terms under a hypothesis.

This letter, in view of the correspondence which has occurred between us, in my judgment, excludes the author of it from the right to be considered and treated as a gentleman. I must decline to notice the coarse attacks made behind an "if," and herewith enclose the letter. Respectfully.

JOHN R. DILLON.

MR. ESTILL COMES IN.

Colonel Estill writes:
I would say that I don't think that we ever had even a conversation on the subject, or exchanged letters about the matter, and I never paid you a dollar or any amount for such a purpose. During the meeting of the legislature Mr. Clifton assisted The News correspondent, and received a salary from that paper for his services. This was well understood by many of his friends here.

A LONG SESSION.

THE GENERAL COUNCIL WORKS FOR FIVE HOURS.

Granting Street Car Franchises and Arrang ing for a New Station House—The Edgewood Avenue Award.

Mayor Pro Tem. Middlebrooks smiled upon full attendance when he called the general ouncil to order yesterday afternoon. The session was a long one-lasting until clock last night.

But it was one full of interest and work. Street car franchises, a new police station, the removal of the Ben Hill monument, open ing of Edgewood avenue and increasing the salary of W. R. Joyner, chief of the fire department, were the leading features of the ssion.

Street Car Franchises. "I have here the petition of the promoters," said Mr. Hendrix, "for a right of way over streets for the overhead wire car. At the last meeting of this body we withdrew the petition after we had submitted our report because the patitioners dealined to pay for the because the petitioners declined to pay for the belgian blocks. Since then the committee has had a conference with the parties interested. They have explained the plan fully and we submit a report granting the petition for five years. At the end of that time this comis to become liable as all other companions. We do this in this case because this seems to be more of an experiment than any thing else and we are not sure it will pan

"I am a member of that committee and I can't say that I endorse that grant," said Mr. Hulsey. "Other towns and cities get pay for what we are giving away. However, I will support the report because I was not at the meeting of the committee. Had I been there I would not have consented to that agreement for more than three years and with the understanding that the company must pay after that time.

"I favor the report," said Mr. McBride. with the understanding that if the road proves a failure they must take it down at "The city has that authority," said Mr. Hulsey. The report of the committee was adopted.

THE CAPITAL BAILWAY COMPANY. "We grant the Capital Railway Company," said Mr. Hendrix, "the right of way asked for starting at the corner of Wall and Loyd streets to be subject to all laws and regulations now in force or that may hereafter be adopted for the government of street railroad companies. The company to pay for all belgian block or rubble on any part of the route hereby granted under the laws requiring street car companies to pay for permanent improvements and ofmacadam improvement, then the company to put down belgian block between the tracks and for three feet on either side. the work to commence and be prosecuted in earnest in three months and to be completed in

DOUBLE-TRACKING WHITEHALL AND PEACHTREE. "I have here the petition of the Atlanta Street Car Company for permission to double-track Whitehall and Peachtree," said Mr. Hendrix, and we report favorably, subject to these condi-

The Atlanta Street Railroad Company to pay for belgian block or rubble on each of said streets, Peachtree and Whitehall, where either is already down, in proportion for the additional track, so laid under the laws requiring street car companies to pay for permanent improvements, that is to pay for all space between and occupied by said tracks and three feet on the outer sides of the respective tracks, deducting what has already been paid by said company. That on the portions of each of said streets where macadam is down, or where there is no permanent improvement, the company shall, as the construction goes on, put down belgian blocks for the whole space occupied by said double tracks, and all space between and for three feet on the outer sides of the respective tracks. No deduction for any payments heretofore paid for by the company. Subject to all laws now of force or that may be adopted. Work to be commonths, and to be completed in twelve months.

"I am opposed to that" said Mr. Reinhardt. "In some places Whitehall street is entirely too narnow. Anyhow, I don't believe in blocking up our streets with two tracks. It leaves no room for any other line, either."

"I think the more we try a double track" said Mr. Hulsey, "the better we will like it. It does not blockade the streets near as much as the inputerable turnouts."

Mr. Turner was with Mr. Hulsey.
"I favor the double track, too," said Mr. McBride, "but I am informed that there is a big petion against it. I would like to have the petition read."

The petition opposing the double track came from Whitehall and was signed by Green B. Robrrom wintenan and was signed by Green B. Roberts.

"I should like to amend the report of the committee," said Mr. Woodward.

The amendment provided that the city reserves the right to surrender any portion of the said double track herein mentioned in order that any other company or street car line may get into ter ritory untraversed by street car lines. "I accept the amendment," said Mr. Hendrix. "I have an amendment," said Mr. Rice.

It provided that the Atlanta street railroad be required to use the Johnson rail or some similar rail in double tracking Whitehall and Peachtree streets.

rail in double tracking Whitehall and Peachtree streets.

The Rice amendment was accepted, too.

"I don't know," said Mr. Hutchison, "that we can do as that committee's report says. The street car company has a charter, and I think we interfere with it by the conditions put down. If we allow one line to run over another road's tracks, who will want to put their money in street car lines?"

"We don't interfer with any of their chartered rights," said Mr. Woodward. "They are having their chartered rights and are asking for more privilege—a double track. If they don't want it under the conditions we stipulate, let them refuse to take it. It's a matter of contract."

Mr. Hendrix supported the report.
"Suppose we take the Marietta line for instance," said he. "Now that company won't build to suit people of the line. Another company will, but it must touch Marietta street. Shall we refuse to let the new company in on that street because the Atlanta Company, or any other company, has tracks there?"

Mr. Hulsey said Mr. Hutchisons's remarks had income a counter of the counter of the principal and he would like to see

Mr. Hulsey said Mr. Hutchisons's remarks had raised a doubt in his mind, and he would like to see the papers sent back to the street committee and the city attorney.

Mr. Hutchison wanted to kill Mr. Woodward's area drawed. mendment.
The amendment was adopted.
Then the report as amended was adopted.

Chief Joyner's Salary. "I have an ordinance here I desire to read, and with the body's permission, I will read it myself," said Mr. Hutchison.

"Section 1. Be it ordained by the mayor and general council, that from January 1, 1891, the salary of the chief of fire department be fixed at $4,000 per annum, payable in monthly install-at $4,000 per annum, payante in montally ments.

"Sec. 2. That it shall be unlawful for the chief of fire department to receive any additional compensation, beyond the salary herein fixed, for the discharge of his duties, from any person, firm or corporation whomsoever."

"In presenting this ordinance," said Mr. Hutchison, "I wish it distinctly understood that I am making no strictures upon the chief of the fire department, or upon those who have heretofore supplemented his salary. Whatever he has received from other hands has been in the full knowledge of every council een in the full knowledge of every council under which he has served. But I take the posi-tion that, if the chief of our fire department is worth $4,000 a year, the city of Atlanta ought to worth $4,000 a year, the city of Atlanta eught to pay that amount. He is our officer, under our control, and we ought to pay his salary. Heretofore the city has paid $3,000, and the insurance companies have paid the balance.

"We are peculiarly fortunate in having a chief who is above any suspicion from undue influences, and the action of the council in adopting this ordinance cannot be construed into any criticism or censure of his actions; and in this connection I take pleasure in bearing testimony to his efficiency and faithfulness in the discharge of all his duties. He is an officer we all feel proud of."

Without further discussion, and without a dissenting vote, the ordinance was adopted.

The New Station House.

The New Station House.

"The committee on public buildings and grounds," said Mr. Woodward, chairman, "have, with the chairman of the board of the police commission and the chairman of the police commistee, given the question of a new police station a carrail consideration, and are ready to report. In fact we have two reports majority report signed by myself and Mr. McBride, and a minority report signed by Mr. Reinhardt. The majority report is:

"Your committee, or a majority thereof, to whom was referred the matter of selling the present station house and the purchase of a new site, have investigated the matter very thoroughly, and rebommend the purchase of the old Benevolent Home property, fronting on Waverly Place 38 feet, had running back 141 feet, the price for the same being $27,500, the amount to be taken from the boilice appropriation, but to be replaced after the sale of the present quarters. The question and manner of the sale of the present police headquarters, we recommend be referred back to the committee with instruction to carry the same into effect."

"That report," continued Mr. Woo d, "is also signed by Captain English, chairman of the

It was so referred.

To Suspend Workmen.

On Mr. Hendrix's resolution that the chairman of the street committee be required to notify the commissioner of public works to suspend the free labor employed on the streets, subject to the direction of the mayor between council meetings, the street committee submitted a favorable report.

"What's that?" exclaimed Mr. Woodward, rising quickly, "Turn off the free laborers--we can't work convicts."
Mr. Woodward spoke at length against the paper.

Mr. Hulsey opposed it too.
So did Mr. McBride.
Mr. Hendrix made a statement in which he asserted that there was no intention to reflect on my one. The paper was recommitted to the committee.

For Five Years.
The Venable Brothers presented a communication in response to an advertisement from the tion in response to an advertisement from the chairman of the street committee.

It was a bid for the permanent street work for a term of five years. In the paper, they agreed to take the work on the partial payment plan—the city to pay its one-third for street work in cash, all property owners to pay 25 per cent each year, with 7 per cent interest. The Venable Brothers agreed to release the city from all liability.

"I am heartily in favor of that proposition," said Mr. Huisey. "It is a good thing for the city, and still better for the people. I have here a resolution."

The resolution provided that the paper be relution."

The resolution provided that the paper be referred to the street committee and city attorney, with instructions that if the agreement is legal, that a contract be entered into at once as the paper sets forth.

To Open Edgewood Avenue. To Open Edgewood Avenue.
The assessors appointed to widen Edgewood avenue at Pryor street by condemning a portion of the Austell building presented two reports.

Dr. Wilson and Mr. Hill, the assessors for the city joined by the lifth member selected by all four assessors, Colonel A. J. West, wanted to give the estate for the fifteen feet two inches on Pryor street, running back thirty-nine feet eight inches on Line street, $5,200 and $1,000 for moving the house.

Mr. Potts and Mr. Tanner, the assessors for the estate, wanted $1,000 a front foot for the Pryor street measurement, the city to change the building.

captain W. D. Ellis appeared for the petitioners who have asked the adoption of the award of the majority. He spoke of the beautiful appearance of Edgewood avenue and the way in which this peace of property marred it. The "Equitable" building, he said, was soon to be erected and the value of the property would naturally increase.

Mr. Joel Hurt also urged the adoption of the award of the majority, speaking of what the East Atlanta Land Company had done to beautify this part of Atlanta, and how necessary it was that part of Atlanta, and how necessary it was that immediate action be taken.

Mr. Hendrix wanted to know where the money was coming from.

"The contingent fund and the fund for opening streets," suggested Mr. Hulsey.

Mr. King opposed the award. He thought the money could be spent to better advantage.

Mr. Hendrix favored the award of the three.

Mr. Woodward was for the same award.

Mr. King moved to disagree to the award. The motion was lost.

The award of the majority, $6,200, was accepted.

The Hill Monument. The Hill Monument.

Dr. R. D. Spalding, president of the Ben Hill Monument Association, presented a letter, referring to the removal of the Ben Hill monument from the juncture of the two Peachtrees, and offering the site to the city for a water fountain, provided the city would defray the expenses of the removal of the monument, under the directions of Mr. Doyle, the sculptor.

"I have a resolution on that," said Mr. Turner. It was that the petition of the Hill Monument Association for the removal of the statue of Senator B. Hill from its present location to the state capitol building be granted, the cost of such removal not to exceed $350, to be taken from the contingent fund.

Pay of Cemetery Men.

Mr. Broyles, chairman of the cemetery committee, reported favorably upon the resolution of Mr. Woodward to increase the pay of the cemetery workmen from $1.25 to $1.50 per day. Mr. Hendrix thought the council had nothing

The street committee presented an ordinance authorizing the paving of West Peachtree street with belgian blocks, from the old city line to the new line, at an estimated cost of $9,300. It was read twice and adopted. Also an ordinance authorizing the paving of Forest avenue, from Calhoun to Jackson, at an estimated cost of $13,000; also an ordinance authorizing the paving of Linden street from West Peachtree street to Courtland street, with belgian blocks, at a cost of $4,875; also an ordinance authorizing the paving of Houston street, from Jackson street to the Boulevard, with belgian blocks, at an estimated cost of $4,285.50.

The street committee recommended $100 for curbing and sidewalks on Venable street; $50 for same on Fifth street; $200 for same on Georgia avenue; $50 for same on Spring street; $300 to open Cooper street; $50 for curbing and sidewalks on Calhoun. Street. Also reported favorably upon Mr. King's resolution for keeping the macadamized streets in repair. The same committee recommended the removal of a fence on Rawson street between Crew and Capitol avenue; also recommending putting a fence around Pearter Rov. & Black's, buildling material, on Spring.

and Cain street.

The tax committee relieved Seab Olive from the tax penalty; also the Florence Wagon Company; also E. F. Lupton; also J. F. Burke. The committee reported favorably on the resolution returning Manry & Wiley a check for $166.

The relief committee submitted reports upon a pumpler of petitions for relief.

Manry & Wiley a check for $106.

The relief committee submitted reports upon a number of petitions for relief.

An ordinance constructing a sanitary sewer along Fraser street at an estimated cost of $600 was read and adopted.

The ordinance constructing a sewer from Baker street to the old city limits, at an estimated cost of $60,000, was read the second time and adopted. The ordinance constructing a sewer from Crew street to near the old city limits, at an estimated cost of $40,000, was read the second time and adopted.

The ordinance authorizing the paving of Linden street, from Courtland street to West Peachtree, at an estimated cost of $4,875, was read the second time and adopted.

ON THE RIGHT LINE.

The action of the city council in endorsing the proposition made to that body by Venable

Brothers is to be commended. The proposition to accept pay for paving and curbing in installments of 25 per cent a year is a most important one to the city, and especially o the property owners. Such an arrangemen will greatly lessen the burden upon the property owners, and will doubtless result in much more paving each year, thereby benefitting the city as a whole.

Attempts have been made heretofore to bring about such a change, but the time has not been ripe. Now, however, the contractors come forward and voluntarily make the proposition. The council has accepted it, and if there is no legal objection, the contract with Venable Bros. will be signed at once.

formation conveyed to the readers of THE CONSTITUTION several days ago:
RICHMOND AND DANVILLE RAILEOAD CO. OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT, New YORK, January 31, 1891.—General Order. Mr. W. H. Green has been elected general manager of this company, with office at Washington, D. C., taking effect February 1, 1891, vice Mr. Peyton Randolph, elected third vice president. He is charged with the direction of the operations of the transportation department in all its branches, and will report to the first vice president.

RICHMOND AND DANVILLE RAILEOAD COMPANY. OFFICE OF GENERAL MANAGER, WASHINGTON, D. Mr. Ehen Pardon of the Wastern died Sat.

Mr. Eben Pardon, of the Western, died Saturday evening at the home of his mother, in Owensboro, Ky., from a tumor in his stomach. He was about thirty-five years and had been with the Nashville and Chattanooga road for ten years. He had charge of the construction of the new shops finished at Nashville on December 1st, and on January 1st was appointed resident engineer of the Western and Atlantic road, with headquarters at Atlanta.

"Mr. Pardon was a fine man and a skillful engineer," says President Thomas. "His illness was a severe one, and I scarcely thought he would recover. I shall appoint as his suc cessor Hunter McDonald, who has been an en gineer on the Nashville and Chattanooga road for eight or ten years. He was recently in charge of the Tennessee and Coosa road and just completed the Pikeville extension."

Of the section of the Macon. Dublin and four miles, about ten miles remain to be graded. Over twelve miles of track have been laid, and it is intended to have the remainder

Mr. Brent Arnold has been appointed super intendent of terminals of the Louisville and Nashville road, with headquarters in Cincinnati. He will have charge of the transporta-tion department of the Louisville and Nash ville from Cincinnati to Milldale, Ky., inclusive. Mr. Arnold has for some years been general agent of the Louisville and Nashville at Cincinnati, and it is thought that he will be succeeded by Mr. S. F. B. Morse, late of the Kentucky Central.

Mr. R. H. Manley, city soliciting freight agent of the Illinois Central road, yesterday gave THE CONSTITUTION a neat little slate otebook. Its chief charm is that an item which has been used can be erased with a sponge. It is an ingenious advertisement.

Mr. G. F. Moore, traveling auditor of the Louis mil. G. F. Moore, traveling author of the Jode-ville Southern, has been assigned to a similar po-sition with the Cincinnati Southern. Mr. Moore is an experienced man, and goes to the Cincinnati Southern well equipped for the office to which he has been appointed.

The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company has made a proposition to extend the Johnson City and Carolina railroad from Embreeville, Tenn., to Warm Springs, N. C., pro-viding Washington county, together with John-son City and the Embreeville Iron Company, sub-scribe $75,000 in aid of the line.

Colonel E. W. Wrenn, the East Tennesse general passenger agent, was in the city on busi-ness Sunday. When asked about the unwarranted attack upon him in the latest issue of The Manu-facturers' Record he laughed heartily, but said nothing, simply ignoring the fact that the attack had been made.

An important meeting of the freight rate committee of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association will be held in Commissioner Carter's office this morning.

In his annual report to the stockholders, Presi

"I would respectfully call attention to the importance of the extension of the branch railroad from Laney's station, on the Louisville and Nashville system, to Piedmont, Ala. This branch road is now within ten miles of Piedmont, and extending forward. When finished it will give us competing forward. When finished it will give us competing rates by one of the greatest of the southern lines to the north and northwest. The only practical railroad by easy grades south of Rome, Ga., to Montgomery, Ala., is via Piedmont and the Chocolocco valley, intersecting parts of the rich mineral counties of Clay, Cleburne, Talladega and Coesa, hitherto undeveloped by railroads. The Bridgeport and Tallapoosa railroad from the north by easy grades has already been surveyed, and this, being the only practical route to Tallapoosa from the north, is, bound to come in the near future."

The Chicago Times has discovered that a switchman who boards a train of the railroad company by which he is employed while off duty is a lpassenger and not an employe, and if he is injured while performing a service ordered by the conductor of the train on which he is a voluntary passenger, unless it is shown that the conductor had the authority to give him the command, and that he was required to obey it, is in law a voluntary service, and he is charged with assuming all risks incident thereto except actual and willful negligence by the railroad company.

"I have lately noticed an item going the rounds of the papers," said Mr. Sam Beall, the popular ticket agent, yesterday, "in which a 'prominent railroad man' says the best place in a sleeping car is the center portion. He furthermore says the passengers who occupy end berths ride right over the trucks, and sustain all the heavy joiting. It is a mistake generally by non-travelers. In all the latest Pullman cars the trucks are placed under the buffet at one end and the washroom at the other and not under the berths."

DUBLIN, Ga., February 2.—[Special.]—The superior court convened here on last Monday, Judge William F. Jenkins presiding and Solicitor General H. G. Lewis acting for the Solicitor General H. G. The unusually large amount of business transacted during the past week bears testimony to the executive ability of the presiding judge, and both the bar and the people give utterance to the highest encomiums on both judge and solicitor. Judge Jenkins is courteous and affable to witnesses, jurors and lawyers, but firm in exacting a thorough performance of duty from the officers of the court and those temporarily under the control of the court.

OPELIKA. Ala., February 2.—[Special.]—
"Peeping Tom," who shot Mr. Mangum a few days since, has not been captured, but seems emboldened in his dastardly conduct. He has visited the residences of three of our citizens since. A few nights ago he went to the house of Mr. Woody Dozier and attempted to open the window blinds of the back room. Mrs Dozier hearing him, gave the alarm and he fled. Friday night he went to the residence of Mrs. Blanks, on Geneva street, and attempted to enter. Mrs. Blanks heard him and screamed, and Mr. Thomas W. MacNames, who lives escaped. He seems to be a perfect mono-maniac on this subject. Our people are very indignant, and if ever captured alive he will

TO BENEFIT THE FARMERS.

A Plow Stock Insurance Company in Henry

County. McDonough, Ga., February 2 .- [Special.]-The death of horses and mules from various causes has entailed great loss upon a number of farmers in Henry county. It is now proposed to establish a Plow stock insurance company, by which they will be protected against future losses in this respect. Five hindred men in the county will probably take stock in this company. Out of this number of armers there will be 1,000 head of stock enterd and valued for insurance. Putting the verage value of this number of mules and hoses at $100, they would have $100,000 worth of took, $100, they would have $100,000 worth o'stock, upon which they carry an insurance of $6,666. Two per cent would make $2,000. Supposing Two per cent would make $2,000. Supposing only one out of every twenty-five to die, that would make forty of the number to be paid for, $66.66\(^2\) being the average price. It would require near $700 more to pay off the cath losses the company would sustain.

high Richardson, of Columbia, Deserts His Wife and Children and Marries An-other Woman—His Detection.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., February 2 .- [Special.]-When Florinda Richardson, nee Viola Delg-nau reaches Columbia she may create some gossip.

She has left here on the trail of a treacher ous husband, and when she reaches that city a lively time is anticipated, as she ascertained within the past few days that she was marrie to a bigamist; that her husband was married also to a woman at that place; that he was the ather of two children, and that he had returned to them during the week. The Times tells the story as follows:

The Times tells the story as follows:

She is about twenty-five years of age, and resided in Angusta for some years past, where the marriage took place. She met Ralph Richardson several times during the past two years in Augusta, where he represented himself as a commercial traveler for a house in Columbia, S. C. They became intimate and the result was that he proposed and she accepted him, and the marriage took place in Augusta last November.

Since then she accompanied him on his travely took place in Augusta last November.

Since then she accompanied him on his travels to Atlanta, Chattanooga, Nashville, Savannah and this city, where he proposed to remain a short while, and took private rooms at a house onjGloucester near Norwich street.

Tuesday last he told her he was called suddenly away to Columbia on business, and told her to remain here until his return. He left by the Brunswick and Western train that night.

Wednesday she was dusting the mantleplece in her room and discovered a letter and telegram behind a small picture, which revealed to her the fact that her husband of a few months was a bigamist.

fact that her husband of a few months was a bigamist.

The following is the letter and telegram:

"COLUMBIA, S. C., January 2, 1891.—My Dear Husband: Your long absence is unexplainable. Jennie and Ralph call 'papa' daily, and the little darlings ask me, 'When will papa come home, mama?' Your letters about coming home are becoming monotonous, and I wish you would say when you surely will come, so that I may answer the children's questions. Your present received. It is a darling, or, as my friends say, a daisy. Such hats are becoming fashionable here now. Goodbye. Jennie and Ralph send kisses. Also accept lots from your loving wife, VIOLA."

The telegram reads as follows:

"COLUMBIA, S. C., January 25, 1891.—Ralph Richardson, Augusta, Ga.: Jennie and Ralph are very ill. Come at once. VIOLA RICHARDSON."

The woman was dumfounded and sought the advice of friends, who advised her to telegraph to Columbia and ascertain if the facts were such as they appeared to be.

She telegraphed immediately and received no reply until she received aletter confirming her fears.

Mrs. Richardson No. 2 immediately made ar-fears.

Mrs. Richardson No. 2 immediately made arrangements and left for Columbia, and the outlook for Ralph Richardson is that he will find himself behind the bars in a few days, unless he gets wind of the matter and skips.

I have been a great sufferer from Neuralgia or the past eighteen years, at times it has lmost driven me wild; the pains through my ead seemed to be unbearable. Six weeks ago

I had one of my severe attacks. After two good inhalations the pain began to disappear. I bought a ball and have used it a few times each day, and now, after six weeks, I have not had an attack.

Mrs. A. J. Darling. "La Grippe" Cured.

Atlanta, Ga., January 22, 1891.—I suffered very severely for three days and nights with a thoroughly developed case of "La Grippe," experiencing excruciating pains in my head and a cramping sensation throughout the entire body; an aching of the ears, eyes and throat; very nervous; high fever one minute and chilling the next. I had very little faith in the "Carbolic Smoke Ball" treatment, but was prevailed upon to try it, which I did. The first dose gave me immediate relief. I followed this with a light dose each hour for six hours, then every two hours the following day, and am happy to say I am entirely cured. I cannot recommend the remedy too highly, and feel it my duty to advise those suffering from this terrible malady to give it a trial.

Cleveland and Hill.

The recent banquet at the Manhattan Club assumes special significance on account of the fact that the possibilities and the probabilities of the democratic party met there, in the shape of Grover Cleveland and David Bennett Hill. The programme of the affair lacked the formality that usually attends on such events. What was said and done seemed to spring naturally from the occasion. Spontaneity such as marked the speeches and the excuse for them is not the result of a cut-and-dried arrangement.

It was announced that there would be no speech-making-that is to say, no formal speech-making-yet what more natural, after the banqueters had warmed with the arder of the feast, than that the host should rise and propose the health of New York's great democratic governor, who sat on his right? What more natural than the applause that followed this reference to Governor Hill's services? The significant fact was that ex-President Cleveland joined most heartily in the applause. Then when the host, in turn, proposed the health of the ex-president and made allusion to his distingnished services to the country. Governor Hill applauded as heartily as anybody.

en Mr. Cleveland rose to respond to the bumper, he made a few general remarks, and then turning to Governor Hill, congratulated him most heartily on his administration of the affairs of the great state of New York, and he congratulated the democratic party on the fact that Governor Hill is to be the next United States senator from New York. He said that if Governor Hill's career in that office is as successful as his work at Albany, he would have a record to be proud of. Mr. Cleveland spoke most earnestly, and when he had concluded every man in the hall rose from his seat and joined in the applause and cheering that followed. It was perceived by every one present that the time had come for the reconciliation of the two great democrats, and that hereafter there was to be not only harmony, but a cordial understanding be Responding, Governor Hill referred to the great services of Mr. Cleveland to the country and his party, and to some of the great triumphs of his administration. Then Governor Hill declared that his highest ambition was to emulate the example and the success of Grover Cleveland. Once again the guests rose to their feet and cheered and ap-

We have no sort of doubt that each of these distinguished gentlemen spoke his real sentiments, nor is there any doubt that each was glad of the opportunity that presented itself to promote democratic harmony in New York state and throughout the country. It will be a fortunate thing for the democratic party if the democrats of the country take their cue from the attitude and declarations of these two distinguished leaders.

In order for the party to succeed there must be harmony. New York state is necessary to the party, but when there is war between democratic factions that state has the habit of falling into the hands of the republicans. This is to be guarded against, and the way to guard against it is for the democrats of that state to follow the example of Hill and Cleveland.

One Thousand Black Babies.

For some time past the rumpus raised over the failure of Banker Kean, of Chicago, has been a matter of surprise to us.

Mr. Kean was an average Christian banker, highly moral, and such a pink of propriety that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and various religious societies which he had joined trusted him with their funds. He failed in the regular way, and no doubt expected the sympathy of all good people.

But there has been a disposition in many quarters to oppress and worry Mr. Kean. The sheriff has him in charge, and it is now almost a certainty that he will be pros ecuted to conviction and sent to the peni-tentiary for a long term of years. What is back of all this? Many of the depositors, if not spurred on by others, would probably display very little activity in the matter. But at last the explanation has come to light. It seems that Bishop Taylor had deposited in the bank $30,000, to be used in buying African children, and bringing them this country, where they would be Christianized and educated. Now, this sum would purchase, at $30 a piece, the average price in Africa, 1,000 black babies, or as Bishop Taylor expresses it, 1,000 souls. It will now be understood why Banker Kean is so relentlessly pursued. It was bad enough for him to steal the funds of godly people, religious societies and the Voman's Christian Temperance Union, but to make way with the means of saving the souls of 1,000 black babies in Africa is a crime that cannot be regarded as an ordinary defalcation. Every old-time abolitionist, and every believer in the future of the negro race, stands behind the depositors and arge the punishment of the heartless misant who has left a regiment of pickaninnies to hopeless savagery in their native

Undoubtedly it is a bad business—a black siness. Banker Kean is a sharp rascal, but he overstepped the line when he appro priated the African baby fund. That one act caused thousands of sentimentalists in the north and west to unite against him, and it is quite likely that they will raise money to aid in the prosecution. These philan-thropists, when they once get their blood up, are dangerous people to monkey with, and in this instance it is a very mild way to put it when we say that they are madder than hornets. Before he gets through with the case Banker Kean will realize that it would have been safer to steal $300,000 from any other man than to touch Bishop Taylor's $30,000.

Now They See It.

Since the sudden disappearance of the force bill certain thoughtful republicans are beginning to express the opinion that the measure was an impracticable one.

Impracticable! How could any nan have doubted it from the first? Even The London Spectator, on the other side of the sea, saw the difficulties in the way of enforcing such a law. It warned the republicans that in time of peace they could not decree the military occupation of the south, and nothing less would have given the federal law any vitality.

The Spectator did not go far enough. We of the present generation recollect the time when the federal government tried to put bayonets behind black ballots in the reconstruction era. The policy of force in those days was a failure, and would be again. Even President Grant, when he heard of the conflict in Louisiana, in which several hundred negroes were killed, decided to do nothing about it, and, it is said, the old soldier was really better satisfied than he cared to tell. In those turbulent times there was an army here to control elections, but when millions of freemen made up their minds to cast their ballots, and have them counted. how long was it before soldiers, carpetbaggers and deputy marshals vanished as if by magic? The force bill impracticable! We should think so. The brief reference we have made to the reconstruction chapter in our history is a pointer, full of suggestions. It proves our side of the case, for history repeats itself.

The Quiet Man Wins.

Speaking of the methods of Senator Gorman in shelving the force bill, The New York Herald says that while he is acquainted with all the resources of finesse, h is always cool, gentlemanly, unobstrusive and wary. He never blusters or threatens. He never loses his temper, but is always serene and polite.

This pen picture reminds one of a similar man in the house-Crisp, of Georgia. During the stormy scenes, when even the oldest democratic members were irritated beyond endurance by Reed's oppressive rulings, Crisp was perhaps more fortunate than any one on his side of the house, not only in obtaining recognition, but in carrying his point. Like Gorman, he was always quiet, courteous and business-like. When he rose, it was for a purpose. When he spoke it was because he had something to say. The character of the man and his methods impressed the bulldozing speaker in spite of himself. It was an easy matter to rap down a noisy and abusive member, but Reed felt that he must respect the Georgian who never lost his self-poise, and never departed from the business of the

It may be said, without exaggeration, that the quiet man generally wins. In diplomacy men like Tallevrand and Metternich triumphed over statesmen who were blatant and aggressive. In war the Napoleons, Von Moltkes and Grants are the victors. At the bar it is the same. In many an exciting legal fight, just when everything seems to b in favor of a dashing advocate famous for his eloquence, a lawyer equally noted for his reticence and self-possession turns him down with a few words, and literally smashes

It is a great mistake to send a man to the egislature, or to congress, simply because he is an orator, and is in the habit of thun dering his way to success. The greatest work in politics, and in other lines of human endeavor, is accomplished by quiet planning and quiet effort. It requires just such a man as Senator Gorman to meet and surprise the advocates of the force bill. Many great crisis in politics is very like a game of chess. Talk in such cases is vain. Blus ter will not win. Vigilance, coolness and reticence command the situation, and just at the right moment the quiet man possessed of these qualities cries, "Check!" and wins the game. WHILE EDITOR SMITH is in Russia on skates, his Philadelphia Press is declaring that Don Cameron is not a republican. This is bad editing. THE WASHINGTON people have started a movement for a home for working girls. In great ciries the working girl has a hard time. "That Rare Old Book." BITOR CONSTITUTION .- Mr. Randall surely mis appehends me. I did not say that the "lame and half" verses written in pencil on the flyleaf of the oldbook were from the popular song, "Maryland, MyMaryland." I did say that he and Miss Talley (S. I. T.) probably met in Richmond, and that Mr. Radall did write in pencil the two tentative veres I copied from the old Gray's "Elegy." Rev Dr. Barrett claims the book as the property, by in-herance, of an admirable gentleman of Peters-bug. Give Dr. Barrett Mr. Randall's note to THE COSTITUTION-the original MS.; let him compar it with the inscriptions in pencil on the flyleaves of the old volume, and I am sure that it will ap-pear that Miss Talley and Mr. Randall were hob-ming together in Richmond, bello flagrante, so . that much poetry sprang from the fact

The Necessity for Care.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: The recent severe and pi-tracted rains have been productive of considerable damage to cotton throughout the sections affected. Many planters who have been holding their cotton for higher prices have been careless about sufficiently housing it from the weather, and the result of this exposure to wind and rain has been an injury to both grade and staple. Lisses arising from this source are, of course, berne by the producer, but often the purchaser is obliged to meet claims made by the consumer on account of loss in weight of these cottons. This "country damage" could easily be avoided by more care and attention to the shelter of bales from the weather while at ginhouses and depots, but about this time of year this class of cotton invariably appears on the market.

The above applies not only to this year, but is true of past seasons, and I would be glad if this article in your widely read paper should have some effect towards inducing farmers in the future to take better care of their crops after they have been gathered, and thus avoid the trouble and loss that result where cotton has been damaged in this way.

Outside the gospel there is no more striking Outside the gospet there is no more striking illustration of the nobility of vicarious suffering than in the life of Charles Lamb, the great English essayist. The life-long invalidism of his sister Mary, complicated as it was with her frequent mental aberrations, was a burden, the weight of which almost crushed the life out of the "gentle Elia." And yet during these years of weariness and toil, much of it the vilest drudgery, Lamb never fainted nor for a moment faltered in his devotion to that loved one.

There is hardly to be found a stronger proof of the perverseness of our average human nature than is seen in this connection. A hundred people have heard and repeated the story of Lamb's dissipation in the matter of tobacco and strong drink, who never have given more than a passing thought to Lamb's self-denying consecration to the service of

We can readily forgive Thomas Hood his ever recurrent puns and cibes for the and a shroud. We can readily forgive Thomas Hood his ever recurrent puns and gibes for the sake of his sympathy with the needlewomen of London, and his Christly compassion for the more unfortunate outcast who would fain end her grief and shame by one desperate leap from some "Bridge of Sighs." Let the pampered priest stalk by on the other side, lest the squalid beggar should come "betwixt the wind and his nobility." Let the course-grained and low-browed worshiper of Mammon scoff at sentiment, but let a nobler manhood have a heart to pity and a hand to help the ship-wrecked brother or the fallen sister who is struggling for a foothold on God's earth.

The Chicago Inter Ocean claims to have di covered that Benjamin Franklin is the daddy of "Old Probabilities." The Chicago journalwill find it difficult to convince th ific world that this alleged discovery is other than the finding of a "mare's nest." The claim is based on the fact that Franklin expressed the conviction that storms usually traveled in an easterly direction, an opinion that was held centuries before the birth of that philosopher. Whatever of science or skill may belong to the signal service bureau, may be justly credited to Commodore Maury.

This great scientist whose services to civilization are not yet fully appreciated by his own the conviction that storms us

No man feit more deeply the subjugation and humiliation of his native south than Commodore Maury. So much so, indeed, that he was at the point of expatriating himself. For this he had splendid opportunities offered him by several of the leading governments of Europe. He was cut off, however, in mid-career, and men of science in both hemispheres regarded his death more than a national calamity.

Marco Polo, the Venetian traveler won a unenviable distinction by the story of his mar-velous adventures by land and sea. He was long ago christened "the boss liar" of the ages, and has fixed a brand on the whole traveling fraternity from the sixteenth centray downward.

It is refreshing, therefore, to meet with a traveled man who is at the same time the soul of honor and truthfulness. A few days ago we met a "rara avis" of this ornithological spe-

He called himself a hedge Cockney because while he was born in the country, he was reare and educated at Chelsea, which bears about th same relation to the great English metropolis that West End does to the Gate City of the South. We were struck with his candor when he told us that he was not quite sure that he had ever seen Thomas Carlyle. He remembers, however, having seen at odd times a yenerable personage, with long hair, who, with tottering steps and staffin hand, made his appearance on the streets of Chelsea. On these occasions the old man seemed to be in a pensive mood, as though he were in labor with some "Latter-day Pamphlet." He was informed that this was the great thinker who pictured in immortal words the devil dance, the first French revolution. I refused, however, to vouch for the truth the statement. He had several times visit the house of commons, but never chanced to see Disraeli or Gladstone. He did see Par-nell, the since fallen Irish leader, and several lesser notabilities. After finishing the course of study in a London grammar school, he sailed for Boston, where grammar school, he sailed for Boston, where he sojourned several months. He then came to lower Georgia, where he was engaged quite awhile in teaching. Afterwards he was converted at a district conference at Waycross, entered the ministry and is now an undergraduate of the South Georgia conference. We lift our hat in profound obeisance to a man who has seen so much and yet knows so little.

We find in the columns of a northern journal what purports to be a reliable account of the life of Blind Tom, the musical prodigy. The writer claims that Virginia was his birthplace, and that he began to exhibit his remarkable gifts as he played around the negro cabins of the old plantation. This statement may be true as to his birthplace, but the other details

In 1855 I was stationed as junior preacher in columbus, where General Bethune, who was well known as a secessionist per se, at that time resided. One sultry summer afternoon of that year I met the general on lower Broad street, leading Blind Tom. Tom seemed to be a delicate boy, not more than nine or ten years of age. In our interview, General Bethune spoke of Tom's wonderful gifts, and asked if I would like to hear him play on the piano. Of course I was glad of the opportunity. Upon his invitation I went into the rear office of some business house close at hand, where there was a partially dilapidated Chickering

In a very little while he began to play a familiar air with a readiness and tastefulness that both amazed and thrilled me.

He was evidently playing by ear, and his fingering and expression then were far below the plane of excellence he had attained when Inext heard him in Atlanta, during the first year of the war. So that in his case inspiration was greatly helped by practice and training.

The salaries were also discussed, and the board decided to allow them to remain as they now stand, rather than decrease the force, the council refusing to increase the appropriation. Of course the salaries could not be changed until after the election in March, but the board took this under advisement in order to regulate the other divisions of the in order to regulate the other divisions of the police fund. Stuart Robson was given an ovation at DeGive's last night. After an absence of four years, a standing-room-only crowd greeted the famous comedian; and it is no exaggeration to say that every individual in that big audience enjoyed every minute of "The Henrietta."

In the entire range of modern comedy, there is nothing more delightful than Mr. Howard's "Henrietta." It is a strictly American play, dealing with American scenes and real Americans. The cursory mention here. Wall street life furnished the basis for the story, and the bulls and bears, and other animals which frequent those fascinating haunts, are presented true to the ife.

The play was written for Mr. Robson and Mr.

Crane, it will be remembered. Mr. Crane's part was that of "the old man of the street: Robson's Bertie became the rest apply the play; and it was therefore most apply the play; and it was therefore the play; and it was therefore most apply the players. Robson's Bertie became the real central figure of the separation between the two "The Henrietta." Bertie is a creation. There is none other like him on the stage. His appearance is of itself enough to convulse the spectators and when he opens his mouth he brings a laugh with every sentence.

Mr. Robson is simply excruciatingly funny. His is pure comedy. There is no horseplay stuff about "The Henrietta." No straining after effect, no depending on expressions of a doubttul-or rather of an It is comedy that deserves to be classed among the most delightful ever seen on the American stage. There is but one criticism to be made and that is there is not enough of Robson himself. There is not a weak part in the play. In fact, every part is a strong one, clean-cut and clearly defined. After that of Bertie, Old Nick is of course, most prominent. It would seem a rather thankless job to be called upon to fill that after Mr. Crane, and yet Mr. Woodward does admirable work. The company is the strongest--with the probable exception of the Jefferson-Florence combination-that has visited Atlanta in many years.

Mr Stanilus Strange is the Dr. Wainwright,

Mr. Everham, as the worldly doctor; Mr. Wooderson, as the secretary; Mr. McIntyre, as a broker, and, Mr. Reglid, as the queer specimen of English aristocracy, fully sustained their different characters. The female characters are in equally good hands. Miss Waldron was a charming and fascinating widow, Miss Busby a decidedly business-like Lady Mary. "The Waifs of New York," the play in which Miss Emmett appears this season, is one of the strongest plays before the public, and tells a simple, touching story of the trials and sufferings of two friendless and homeless waifs, cast adrift upon the cold charity of the world in the great metropolis and of their subsequent rise to prosperity.

FOUR MEN

Who Were Confined to a Swamp Island for Eight Days, with No Means of Escape, and Without Food.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 2.-[Special.]-Four men living eight days on one pos on a deserted island, is the outline of a se tional story related in Augusta today. Mr. J. O'Brien, a railroad contractor, building the Southbound railroad from Savannah to Columbia, is authority who vouches for the truth of the story. O'Brien says that in removing his camps from the Middle Georgia and At-lantic railroad to the Southbound railroad week before last, when they reached the ferry at Stony Bluff, seventy-five miles below Augusta, to cross the Savannah river, two mules

Four white men in the party started hunting for the strayed animals. When they got several miles off, the river commenced rapidly rising, and before they could return to the ferry the water got beyond bounds and covered the ground several feet. The men realize their peril, and sought refuge on a small strip of land, which the water completely encirc and formed a little island, in the heart of the dense swamp. The four men were forced to remain on the island eight days, awaiting the water to recede, which has not yet returned

Eight days on an island were trials of suffering and distress. The men were without provisions, and no possible means of securing food. Each day they swam out in the stream in hopes of striking dry land that would lead back to the starting point, but water was everywhere. Equanimity was destroyed, and death from starvation stared them in th face, for there was no sign of a raven, and it was apprehended among the men that in their craze to satisfy hunger, they would finally have to resort to cannibalism. All they had to eat in eight days was a possum, which they caught in the drift wood, and cooked by

A searching party, in boats, was started after several days had elapsed, and the men failed to return from the hunt of the mules and found the party lying on an island, weak from starvation, and almost perished to death. They were safely paddled to Stony Bluff, where their ravenous appetites was satisfied.

There is a great deal of curiosity at the beginning of the year to know how the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, the chief among the assessment organizations, has fared during the preceding year. While the annual statement of the company is not completed, the following figures were furnished us: The applications received during the year were for upwards of $41,000,000 of insurance; the amount written exceeded $2,000,000; the total amount of death claims paid to date is about $10,000,000; the cash reserve fund exceedes $2,800,000; the increase of surplus for 1890 was over $500,000; the increase of surplus for 1890 was Full, $196,000,000. om The Spectator, N. A POINT

Was well taken by a Judge in a Georgia city recently. A highly respectable and usually prompt citizen, who had been summoned to serve upon the jury, depended upon a cheap watch, and arrived twenty minutes late. The Judge promptly fined him $50. indicating that in this age of fine watches at reasonable prices, his excuse was not sufficient to relieve him of the fine.

This expense would have been avoided if the citizen had been wearing a Stevens Watch. They lead all others for durability and accuracy, and prices are very low. Call on J. P. Stevens & Bro., Jewelers, 47 Whitehall Street, or write to them for a catalogue.

Not since the day of the peerless Paul Morphy, when he shot athwart the chess sky with meteoric brilliancy, defeating one after another all the chess players who confronted him, has there bean so great an interest marrifested in the scientific and beautiful game as there now is.

In Atlanta the royal game numbers among its votaries many leading lawyers, doctors, preachers, merchants and men of leisure and culture.

The roward the Atlanta Chess and Chaeler.

The rooms of the Atlanta Chess and Checker Club presented an interesting scene yesterday, when Professor A. F. Wurm and Mr. I. E. Orchard faced each other over the checkered board to con-tend for the chess championship of the south. The players began their first game promptly at 11 o'clock, a very large crowd of spectators being present. Professor Wurm won the toss, and chose king's fourth. The first player moved his king's knight to bishop's third, and this was answered with queen's knight to bishop's third. Then came the formidable attack known as the "Ruy Leoner." came the formidable attack known as the "Ruy Leopez," named in honor of a priest who lived in the fourteenth century. Mr. 10rchard arrayed the defense of pawn to queen's third. Professor Wurm advanced pawn to queen's fourth, and the defense moved bishop to queen's second. Therepayn, and the hostile knight incontinently retreated to king's second. This was an experiment of doubtful merit. Indeed Mr. Orchard ascribes his discomitance to this ill. ascribes his discomfiture to this ill considered novelty. The attacking playe deployed his forces rapidly and effectively on the king's wing, and the crowded condition of the blatk pieces embarrassed his adversary greatly black pieces embarrassed his adversary great! All the while Professor Wurm was planning a d isive sacrifice of a knight in the center of th board, and, Mr. Orchard, perceiving his purpor tried to frustrate him, but in vain. Onward can the whites and backward fell the forces so ve the whites and backward fell the forces so ve-hemently attacked. Finally Professor Wurm, by skilfal play, won the "exchange" and two pawns. His opponent foresaeing inevitable defeat, grace-fully surrendered at the end of two hours, after fortymoves had been made. In the afternoon Mr. Orchard adopted his favoite attack, knows as the "Evan's Gambit," and his adversary at once accepted it. The moves were identical with those made in one of the Stainitz-Gueshere, cames up to the gircht play. teintz-Gunsberg games up to the eighth play when Professor Wurm deviated from the beate when Professor Wurm deviated from the beater track Instead of playing queen to bisop's third as suggested by the great Steinitz, he tried a novel idea—pawn to queen's third. Mr. Orchard planied a pretty sacrifice of a piece, which his adversary was forced to accept. This proved a veritable Greek gift. From this point black was involved in difficulties, from which his skill was impotent to relieve him. He drove ingeniously to originate a counter attack, and at one time seemed to be all right, but Mr. (rchard pressed his assault closely, and his opposent was compelled to strike his colors at the thirt;-fift move.

The third game was begun, but only a few moves were made before adjournment. The positions seem about even, with Mr. Orchard's for choice. It is likely that this will be a long and stubborn contest.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 2.—The stock market today was more active and stronger, the strength shown being entirely out of proportion to the increase in the folume of business. The improvement in prices was well distributed, but the strongest stocks were Lake Bhore, Manhattan, Wheeling and Lake Erie, both common and preferred Western Union, Missouri Pacific, and Pacific Weil I. will thus he seen that Gould mon and preferred Western Union, missouri Facine, and Pacific Mail. It will thus be seen that Gould stocks were the leading group in the market, but the Grangers, especially the corn roads, and the Vanderbilts, were not far behind. There was no news of special importance to boom the list, but the brokers report more inquiry from outsiders, and there is a wing impression, which may account for the ength today, that as the time approaches for the ournment of congress, there will be a continued provement in the market, uncertainty as to the improvement in the market, uncertainty as to the financial legislation being at an end at that time so far as the present session is concerned. The opening this morning showed a stronger and more confident tone, and Lake Shore started an upward movement, traders detecting what they supposed to be inside buying. This induced considerable covering of shorts, and brokers who have been short of market for some time were prominent in bidding up prices all throughout the day. The result disclosed the fact that short interest in the Grangers was larger than generally nterest in the Grangers was larger than generally posed, taking into consideration the limited ket we have had for the past two weeks, and lington and Rock Island early became features in

Reports from Washington state that the subsidy Be upward movement.

Reports from Washington state that the subsidy bill was likely to come up again, started Pacific Mail up again and the announcement that the Manhattan Company directors have decided to take suburban rapid transit from the syndicate controlling it, gave Manhattan a boom and it scored the largest advance of the day. Wheeling and Lake Erie showed good buying all the way out and on comparatively light transactions scored material gains. The sluggish stocks were Villards, New England and Industrial, but none of these falled to make some sort of gain. Sliver was comparatively quiet and yielded slowly, making only small fluctuations. During the day the stock of sliver in this city continues to accumulate alowly but holders are reluctant to sell, hoping for more favorable develductant to sell, hoping for more favorable devel-nts in the near future. Advancement was subopments in the near future. Advancement was subjected to several halts caused by realizations of profits accrued by the trading element, but while the best prices were shown in the last hour, by this means the close was steady to firm while quiet at the close to highest prices of the day. NEW YORK, February 2.—Foreign prices were higher this morning, and our market opened with a stronger tendency. The opening prices were all better than Saturday's close. This was due partly to the ore confident feeling in regard to the silver question to the fact that Saturday's bank statement was better than had been looked for, and the continued ease in money. One of the features was the sharp advance in Manhattan railway stock on the rapid transit bill becoming a law, and as many of the provisions of the bill are favorable to the elevated and interests, this stock should reap considerable benefit from its passage. There was some liquidation late in the day, which caused a fractional setback, but there was no evidence of any combined selling, and while, in view of the continued dullness setbacks are likely to occur at any minute, we believe that on all declines stocks will do to buy. Money continues unprecedentedly to the fact that Saturday's bank statement was better will do to buy. Money continues unprecedentedly easy, and this is causing a beneficial influence on the prices of bonds, and it is in these latter that the most money will be made in the immediate future.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

MEW YORK, February 2.—[Special.]—Liverpool was affected by the large tenders of cotton on February contracts and the heavy movement of Saturday, recovering, however, a greater portion of the decline at the close upon a demand for arrivals from jobbers. Our market opened parely steady on a basis of 9c for March, declining slightly upon the posting of the receipts to recover a portion of the decline when the closing of Liverpool was received. Excelpts continue to be heavy—31,000 bales, against 35,000 bales last year, while the known interior receipts are 4,300 bales, against 3,500 last season. The trade have looked for Liverpool to call a hali at a boant 36 for some time past, and a large amount of cotton has been purchased on that belief. This buying damand has maintained our marks while Liverpool has been declining, increasing the disparity between the two markets some 20 points, which is attracting cotton here, as we are now the highest market. Estimates of the receipts for the week-range from 180,000 to 170,000 bales. Manchester accounts received by mail this morning confirm the cable advices we have referred to, stating the demand for goods is very poor, while the stock of yarn is increasing, production having overcome consumption.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, February 2.—Liverpool came 3-64d lower mainly, as our friends tell us, under the influence of bearish sellers, our cables reading that many who had heretofore thought fairly well of the article are now going to the other side. This in itself confirms our idea of reactions, for we are under the impression that, with a fair short interest engendered, there will from time to time be scarces and consequent railies. The market here did not respond except to a very slight extent. There has been a fair amount of investment buying—In fact, almost sufficient to sustain the market, notwithstanding a generally free movement and buying—in fact, almost sufficient to sustain the market, notwithstanding a generally free movement and the unfavorable tenor of foreign advices. There is no real merit on the bull side, but we are disposed to urge upon our friends to cover their sales on all soft spots. It is purely a matter of conservatism with us for admitting that, even though prices should decline somewhat further, the chances do not warrant any risk now bearing the staple to any further extent. We have also to mention that we have today received further cables from our Indian friends speaking of the probability of a reduction in the Indian crop of 250,000 bales, which is a further decrease of 50,000 bales from the latest reports received.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, February 2.—The price of wheat for May tood %c higher at the close today than it did Saturstood %c higher at the close today than it did Saturday and %c lower than the highest point touched today. The opening price for May was an indication of the influences which might ordinarily be looked for from such news as had then been received. It was anywhere from 99/699%c, or %6%c below the closing point Saturday. The advance named was, however, of only momentary duration, and before 20 minutes of the session had gone by the price had advanced to on had gone by the price had advanced to 101% with just enough selling at the extreme price to make a quotation. There was trading on an immense scale all over the pit. The feeling was one of intense nervousness, and the succeeding fluctuations were frequent and heavy. A decline to 100½ was succeeded by a reaction to 101½, and that again by slump, which left the price at 100% 10 minutes from the close of the session, and excitement and nervousness continued to the close.

The strength in corn was due principally, as was the case in wheat, to the nervousness of shorts. From 53%c at start May corn made a quick advance to 34c. chiefly under Hutchinson's efforts to buy, and then subsided to around 53% when he had desisted. The oats market was very active and at times greatly excited. The crowd was bullish, although news was of bearish nature. The provision market was irresponsive to exciter and advance in the prices of grain. Trade was rather dull, and the feature of it was the desire of the longs to sell out, with no buyers apparently but the packers, CHICAGO, February 2 -The condition of the whee CHICAGO, February 2.—The condition of the wheat market at the opening was very unsettled, there being very little grain or provision sold for February delivery; therefore, the cash deliveries, which usually influence the market to a certain extent the forepart of the month, cut no figure whatever. Reports of rain in California, and public cables reporting the market for spot wheat a shade easier, encouraged the shorts and caused some selling by the longs on the opening, but year, soon the scene ability of the contract of and caused some selling by the longs on the opening, but very soon the scene shifted. The report of the stocks in Liverpool having decreased 684,000 bushels, the India shipments being light, and there being some good sales of flour reported from Minneapolis, started some good buying. The market advanced very rapidly to 100½, when some local shorts became very heavy buyers, making a tremendous trade from 100½ to 101‰. We think there was a pretty general evening up at about 101, and that a decline of a few cents in the near future is quite probable. The cold wave promised for the winter wheat belt still hangs over the northwest, acting as though it was a little afraid to invade this wild region.

The strength in wheat and the unsettled weather The strength in wheat and the unsettled weather started a speculative interest in corn. At times the market acted as though traders in that cereal were going to have a little picnic all to themselves—a sort of waking up from the past few weeks of duliness. The market advanced about 1 cent from Saturday's close, and closed with nearly the entire advance sustained. There was a little more trading in oats than has prevailed during the past week, yet the maket was very narrow, and closed with very slight advance over Saturday's figures.

There was not enough trade in provisions to give an marked feature, the receipts of hogs still being so larg marked feature, the receipts of hogs still being so large as to cause would-be traders to be rather shy about buying. There are a good many speculators standing ready to buy provisions, particularly lard and ribs, when they think the hogs have been pretty thoroughly exhausted. Until then, however, we cannot look for much activity in that product.

JOHN LIVINGSTON EXPOSED MRS. DIGGS, OF KANSAS.

He Tries to Work a Scheme and Is Foiled.

Then Slanders the State and Every-body in It.

John Livingston, who claims to be president of the New York Farmers' Alliance.

Pending the senatorial election in Kansas, this man went out there to work a scheme or the alliancemen. Failing to do that, he joined the republicans and proceeded to use the forged letter of L. F. Livingston as a cam-

He had some how secured letters of introduction to Mrs. Anna L. Diggs, who, though a woman, is a prominent factor in the Kansas alliance. She soon saw what he was and refused to introduce him to legislators. When he left Kansas he filled up the correspondent of a Chicago paper with a slanderous attack on the state of Kansas, saying that it would soon

PASSES TO THE AGRICULTURAL SO-CIETY WILL BE FORTHCOMING.

General Alexander So Telegraphs Colonel Waddell-The Colonel Talks About Sensational Publications.

The readers of THE CONSTITUTION will re-A tempest in a teapot! ember the controversy between President L. That's what the effort to stir up a sensatio F. Livingston, of the Georgia alliance, and ver the matter of passes to the delegates to the State Agricultural Society may be char-The New York Livingston turned out to be a blackmailer, demanding $50 from the Georgia man, and when refused, forging a letter of endorsement of the force bill, to which he appended Colonel L. F. Livingston's signa-

For the passes will be forthcoming. The impression has got abroad that the rail-roads one and all had decided to refuse passes to the delegates to the convention, which meets in Savannah. This was based upon the delay of the authorities of the Contral road in furnishing these countries. All sorts of wild furnishing these courtesies. All sorts of wild rumors concerning the supposed cause for this delay were started on their rounds, but These rumors have been all knocked in the head, as the passes are to be issued as usual. General Alexander telegraphed Colonel Waddell to that effect yesterday.

"There was some delay," said Colonel Waddell, in explaining the matter yesterday morning. "We were at first informed that the passes would not be issued, but we felt that the matter would be fixed all right. I went of a Chicago paper with a slanderous attack on the state of Kansas, saying that it would soon be in a state of anarchy.

Mrs. Diggs has looked up his record and gives a Chicago Tribune correspondent at Topeka this scathing interview:

It is difficult ito imagine anything more ridiculously false than the statements made by John Livingston, president of the New York State Alliance, concerning alliance matters in Kansas. Mr. Livingston came to me a few days before the senatorial election with a letter of introduction from Lester C. Hubbard, of The Farmers' Voice, and asked me to introduce him to the members of the legislature. He wanted to get a hearing before the legislature. He wanted to get a hearing before the legislature. He declared that he knew more than any man living about the abominations of railway corporations and that he had come to Kansas to instruct the legislators. He declared that the people of New York were ready for the independent people's party. He was also looking forward to the time when the alliance, to which he belonged, would consolidate with the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, that being the organization to which the Kansas Alliance is auxiliary. He expressed himself to me in the strongest terms as favoring all that the people's party in Kansas have accomplished. But finding that he could not manage to get a hearing from our members of the legislature he soon threw off his mask and went over to the republicans, whose tool and servant he was for the remainder of his stay. Without doubt Mr Livingston came to Kansas for the express purpose of assisting in the desperate struggle to reelect John J. Ingalis. He fitted into the plan and policy which was the last forlorn hope of an expiring republicanism. The releient poln J. Ingalis. He fitted into the plan and policy which was the last forlorn hope of an expiring republicanism. The sole reliance was placed upon arousing the war spirit. Every possible appeal was made to sectionalism. An old soldiers' meeting was held Saturday a to Savannah and in company with several prominent gentlemen called upon General Alexander. He showed the greatest disposition to do everything in his power to help us. He explained that the refusal of the passes had been ordered by the directors and he would have to present the matter to them. He thought there would be no trouble in securing the transportation, however. From the interest taken in the matter by General Alexander and the members of the board of directors, especially Colonel Howell, we have never had any doubt but that matters would be arranged with thorough satisfaction to all parties. We felt that all we had to do was to present our case to the directors and they would be glad to grant our request."

And such proved to be the case. A short time afterwards. Colonel Waddell received the telegram from General Alexander, announcing "the Central will give the passes." In acknowledging the telegram, Colonel Waddell wired the president of the Central ATLANTA, Ga., February 2.—General E. P. Alexander, President Central Railroad, Savannah, Ga. The farmers of Georgia render you profound thanks for your successful efforts to secure free passes to delegates to the State Agricultural So-clety convention to assemble in Savannah Feb-ruary 11th and 12th. No one appreciates your kindness more than J. O. Waddell. THE OTHER ROADS.

Other railroads had already granted the request for passes. The Richmond and Danville had done so, the Georgia railroad, the Covington and Macon, the Atlanta and Florida, the Georgia Southern, the Columbus and Rome, the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery, the Wrightsville road and the Savannah, Florida and Western.

"The East Tennessee officials," said Colonel Waddell, "have made no announcement of their determination as yet, but the officers have given us every assurance of doing all in their power to secure the transportation for our delegates, and I feel certain there will be no trouble at all, especially in view of the past generosity of that road."

Governor Northen and Colonel Waddell have

The republican managers soon discovered that they had drawn a dreadful elephant in President John Livingston. Once introduced to the andience he proposed to enjoy the opportunity to the utmost. He used up the other speakers' time and kept Senator Ingalls shivering behind screens until the chairman in desperation was obliged to request him to desist. After Senator Ingalis concluded his few remarks, President Livingston again took possession of the platform, and the unhappy chairman did not dare come again to the rescue of the audience. The republicans were more than welcome to John Livingston. The alliance people never dreamed of threatening him It is absurd in the last degree for him to claim that any attempt was made to silence or intimidate him. It is absurd in the last degree for him to claim that any attempt was made to silence or intimidate him.

It is just possible that the republicans invited Mr. Livington to leave town. I must refer you to Chairman Buchan for answer to that question.

As far as our people were concerned the longer he stayed the better it would please them, as he was so self-avident a humbug.

There is not one word of truth in the statement that members of the alliance are not permitted to read any liturature except their own. Our people are great readers. It is true that they have lost confidence in old patisan newspapers, both republican and democratic, and there is an increasing demand for literature which teaches straightout people's party doctrine. The alliance people who met President Polk and Colonel Livingston, of Georgia, were delighted with them. The Kansas alliance is loyal to the national officers. The abuse heaped upon President Polk when he visited Kansas only endeared him to the fraternity. Colonel Polk is as loyal a man to the nation and the flag as any man who wore the blue. The letter purporting to be from Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, and read by Mr. Livingston, of New York, at the lngalls meeting was undoubtedly a forgery. I am deeply thankful I escaped becoming responsible for introducing him to audiences of our people, as he asked me to do.

No DREAK IN THE RANKS.

The rank and file of the alliance in Kansas were never more zealous, never more jubilant as to the solidity and unity of the people's party. I refer Mr. Livingston to the vote in the legislature for United States senator. It is typical of the condition of the Kansas alliance. No one here has heard of any attempt to organize any other alliance in this state. In fact, almost everybody who devoted a good deal of time to the pass question within the past few days, and they are both happy at the success of their efforts. 'There will doubtless be a large attendance at the meeting of the society, and it will be a successful convention.

just such an organization as had led Kansas on to victory.

Mr. Hubbard, of The Farmer's Voice, telegraphed me his repudiation of Mr. Livingston as soon as he discovered that he, too, had been victimized. I also received a letter from Mr. John A. Hall, editor of The Switchmen's Journal, giving proof of the unscrupulous character of Mr. Livingston, and telling of other confidence and blackmailing schemes in which he has been engaged. I also received a copy of The Locomotive Firemen's Magazine, published at Terre Haute, Ind., showing Mr. Livingston's record for years past as a sharper and blackmailer. I had the pleasure of presenting Mr. Livingston's record at the senatorial ratification meeting last night, and, judging from the laughter with which it was received, our people would cheerfully contribute a small sum if President Livingston would call these goods at $3.50 per dozen.

HELD FOR MURDER.

PAT ENRIGHT HELD BY THE COR-ONER'S JURY

For the Death of Doc Granger-Continuation of the Investigation Yesterday Aftern-Enright Protests Innocence.

Did Pat Enright kill Doc Granger That he did not is what he will be required to prove in the courts.

As it is, the coroner's jury now holds him responsible for Granger's death. Enright occupies a cell at police head-quarters, and today he will be sent to jail to await trial on a charge of murder.

Yesterday afternoon the coroner's jury re-convened in the basement of the courthouse to proceed with the investigation of the case, the details of the first of which investigation were printed yesterday.

Daisy Lee, Mamie Williams and Patrolman Mehaffey were the witnesses introduced. Several others merely corroborated their testi-

Daisy Lee said Granger was in the house drunk, and that she heard him fall down the stairs. That was all she knew about it.

Mamie Williams, the girl who testified on Sunday, but who then failed to tell all she knew, and who was kept at the station house all night by Sergeant Ozburn, to whom she had made important disclosures, to insure her appearance at the inquest, was put upon the stand again.

The woman made substantially the same statement to the jury as that which appeared in yesterday's report as coming from her through Sergeant Ozburn. Granger and Enright, she testified, had both come to see the same woman, Daisy Lee. Whether they quarreled or not, she did not know.

"I saw the two men standing at the head of the stairs," she said. "Enright struck Granger several hard blows, knocking him down the stairs to the pavement. After Granger reached the bottom of the stairs, Enright followed him down there and jumped on him with his feet."

Patrolman Mehaffey was present with Granger before he died, and heard his statement.

Granger had told Patrolman Mehaffey in death. He effect that he had been beaten to death. He said he had gone to the Marietta street place and told Mehaffey that Enright had knocked him down the stairs. The marks on Granger's body and the statement of the physician who examined him sustained the evidence adduced in showing that death was the result of violence.

With these facts before them, the jury found a verdict, reciting that Doc Granger came to his death from injuries of which the contractions of the contraction of the contraction came to his death from injuries of which his body bore evidence, and that in their opinion the said injuries were inflicted by Patrick Enright.

Enright still maintains his innocence.

"I did not see Granger that night," he said, "and do not know anything at all about it. It will all be cleared will all to cleared the said. will all be cleared up.

Colonel Rube Arnold has been employed by Enright to defend him. Colonel Arnold visited him in his cell yesterday.
